KEYNOTE SPEAKER

ROB INRIG

DISTRICT ADMINISTRATOR, RICHMOND SCHOOL DISTRICT

In his keynote address, Rob Inrig explores "understanding yourself and your child and the influence this has on your parenting style." How you see the world, what you value and how you spend your free time has a profound impact on how you parent or how you conduct your business. Often missed is the fact that those around you, including your children see the world through a very different lens. These differing points of view can result in unnecessary conflict or dynamic partnerships. Join us as we explore how to better understand and utilize our personality perspectives.

Rob is a counsellor, administrator and author who addresses many related counselling issues including parenting, youth and leadership. He provides practical insights on how to build strength and personal capacity even in the midst of difficulties. Rob is also a certified Birkman consultant assisting individuals, organizations, and companies to utilize their strengths to maximum advantage.
